Vicksburg, Miss., June 11.—The monument to General Lee, which was transferred from Memphis to Vicksburg today and several thousand of the old soldiers witnessed the unveiling of the statue to General Stephen Dill Lee. The splendid monument designed by Kitson, stands in the National Park upon the exact spot from which General Lee directed the movement of his troops during the siege of Vicksburg. It was the favorite spot in the heart of General Lee, who at the time of his death, was a member of the park commission.

Major General Frederick Dent Grant, commander of the Department of the Lakes, U. S. A., accompanied by Mrs. Grant and his staff, with Hon. Henry Watterson, of Louisville, arrived at noon and several thousand of the old soldiers witnessed the unveiling of the statue to General Stephen Dill Lee. Those of us who survive that dread conflict, are old men now and each of us will recall the scene of the unveiling of the statue to General Stephen Dill Lee. The splendid monument designed by Kitson, stands in the National Park upon the exact spot from which General Lee directed the movement of his troops during the siege of Vicksburg. It was the favorite spot in the heart of General Lee, who at the time of his death, was a member of the park commission.

This is why we are assembled in a National Cemetery to rear a memorial to a Confederate general. He was of the best the South has to offer upon the altar of American manhood. All that the North could wish for American to be, I have ridden to battle with him, and knelt by his side in prayer, and can truly say that what his great kinsman was to Virginia he was to Mississippi.

So prompt and capable and yet so calm. He nothing lacked in soldierly, except good fortune. It will be for another to swell upon his many and surpassing virtues: his skill and prowess in the field, his genius in the arts of peace; his simple, sturdy manliness; his Christian resignation in the presence of death; his every drop of his blood in every inch of his stature; in every thought and fiber of his splendid and delightful personality.

DISMEMBERED

Body of Murdered Man Left in Care of a Boy.

New York, June 11.—The dismembered body of a murdered man, which was left in the care of a boy in Catherine street last night, was identified today as that of Samuel Hovine, 32 years of age, a painter, of east 94th street. Subsequently the man's head, which was missing last night, was found lying on a pile of refuse under the Brooklyn bridge some distance from the point where the body was left. Identification was made by laundry marks on the dead man's linen, and was later confirmed by his sister.

Hovine is supposed to have been the motive for the crime. That, when her officers entertain the veterans of other lands, from the North Sea, immortalized by Paul Jones, to the Sea of China, immortalized by George Dewey—the Stars and Stripes above them—they will need only to point to the likeness of Jefferson Davis, the chief of Confederacy, for proof of the rehabilitation of the sections and the perpetuity of the Union.

After the unveiling of the statue, accompanied by a salute from the Warren light artillery and the singing of the Vicksburg school children Mr. Watterson, as a prelude to the introduction of Lieutenant General Clement A. Evans, who presented it in the name of the Confederate veterans, and Major General Frederick Dent Grant, who accepted it on behalf of the government and the army, and the Hon. George R. Peck, who delivered the oration, said: "I have declared that we are one people. No air lines, no water lines, no other lines, separate us into geographic fragments, all the good on this side, all the bad on that. The war ended nearly fifty years ago. He who thinks there are issues left outstanding from the days of secession and slavery must have been dwelling in a rut of distorted fancies, nor have traveled much beyond the shadow of his own roof-tree."

Mississippi and Massachusetts are convertible terms. Given the same conditions their people would be the same and would do the same. During the thirty years immediately preceding the war of secession three at least of Mississippi's most popular and celebrated public men came here from the North: Robert J. Walker, born and reared in Pennsylvania; John A. Quitman, born and reared in New York, and Sergeant S. Prentiss, born and reared in the state of Maine.

"I am about to present you in succession Lieutenant General Clement A. Evans, commander in chief of Confederate veterans, Major General Frederick Dent Grant, of the army of the United States, and the Hon. George R. Peck, of the great Northwest, building my own commission at large and from the District of Columbia, where I was born, claiming some time to be a Kentuckian. No state, or sectional lines have ever made a pent-up Ulica for any of us. Each of us breeds back to good old Anglo-Saxon and Scotch-Irish stock. In the by-gone days the two most kindred American types were to be found in Boston and Charleston; and still there are those who, enjoying the gracious hospitality of the Algonquin club of the Yankee City and the Palmbeach club in the City of the Huguenots, cannot tell one from the other, particularly after 10 o'clock in the evening."

As Mr. Watterson ceased his speech, two little boys stepped up, without a word, and the flags fell away. There was an intense silence, then a cheer followed by the boom of the artillery salute. The boys who unveiled the statue were Harry Lee and Lee Harrison, grandsons of the famous general.

When the cheering had died down, Gen. Clement A. Evans, formally presented the statue to the federal government on behalf of the people of Mississippi and the confederate veterans. "Our thoughts and feelings today concentrate fitly on the patriotic life of Lieutenant General Lee, as we shall always associate him with the great events in which he acted his distinguished part," said General Evans. "I will make his well known life the theme, his character an example, and career the suggestion of the citizens patriotic duty. What a noble man he was! Not merely a noble man, but a noble citizen, a noble soldier, a noble patriot. This monument declares his fame and our country will accept it as a part of its own glory."

Gen. Evans spoke of "the four years brilliant military career of the great Confederate soldier," which he declared could be expanded into volumes by narrating the wonderful incidents of that vast war in which he achieved the fame the country delighted to honor. "At the close of his war life," said Gen. Evans, "in full vigor of his thirty-two years, there can be found no progress for public service in any trail or quality of character, or act of his bright career, which suggests a cause of any kind why the honors of this remarkable memorial should not crown him."

Not a cloud lowered around his name. If it be becoming in man to be brave he had that excellency of character, for the best ideas of civility were exemplified by his courage, since fought as a patriot without malice toward his enemy. His hand never withheld what was another's due. His tongue did not falter in the right of way; so that the hero's praise when it was merited by a foe. Steadily, might have heard the thunder of her guns, shot with the words of the noble Fremont, "the faithful service of man and God. He is without sectional prejudice, his patriotism knows no bounds, his country, his own great, the true citizen, the courageous leader in war; the true citizen, the affectionate husband, the affectionate father, and above all, the ideal that is chivalric in American manhood and all that was typical of the civilization of the South, to the end

Mrs. Gould said the farm was controlled by a corporation in which she had put the most money. After Mrs. Gould had told what she had taken from Castle Gould to the Lynchburg farm, Mr. Nicoll asked the witness her age, but the court excused her from answering that or from telling where she was born. Before the marriage Mrs. Gould said she was known as Viola Catherine Clemons. Mr. Nicoll asked the witness if she had ever traveled with a wild west show. Mrs. Gould replied that she had traveled once with Miss Ada Cody and had accompanied the show to Naples, Rome and other European cities. She had seen a good deal of Col. Cody as he was her manager, and she had frequently to consult him who said.

REMARKABLE
Because of the Great Age of the Two Principals.

Seranton, Pa., June 11.—A murder which is remarkable because of the great age of the two principals, each being an octogenarian, occurred today on a farm in Berry township, near Homestead, about 25 miles from here. According to reports received here, George Baker, a farmer, aged 87 years, was murdered presumably by a shot gun by his brother-in-law, Mark Van Duessen, aged 86 years. After leaving Baker dead in the barn, Van Duessen returned to the farm house and informed Mrs. Baker what he had done. STRONG APPEAL MADE TO THOSE

Who Make Country's Laws to Right Troubles
That Exist.

CLEVELAND MAN
KILLS HISTORY.

Cleveland, O., June 11.—Albion M. Dyer, librarian and curator of the Western Reserve Historical Society, after four months of painstaking search through the records at Washington, announces authoritatively that the settlers of Marietta were not the original settlers of Ohio. "Consequently," says the investigator, "Marietta's long reputation as the oldest town in the state must fade into thin air."

"Every schoolboy of the last fifty years has been taught the Marietta tradition. It's a myth."

"The first settler of Ohio was Captain Absalom Martin," he declares. "The tract of land he settled on is situated in what is now the county of Belmont, just opposite the present site of the city of Wheeling."

Dr. Dyer, not content with shattering the Marietta tradition, and unsatisfied with the thrust given history, goes further.

"Getting down to hard facts," says he, "there is not an accurate map of the state of Ohio in existence."

GREEN GOODS GRIP

Found by Authorities at Wapakoneta Contains Strong Evidence.

FULL INQUIRY SHALL BE MADE.

Federal Authorities Investigating Fraudulent Use of Mails.

There is a much talk about the "green goods" episode and what was will be the final outcome is a matter of considerable speculation at the time, and the officials and others interested are determined that the case of inquiry shall be made. It was started on relative authority that the investigation would assume a different form in the very near future, and one who has been in a measure responsible for a great deal of the present trouble may be looked for trouble of a kind not yet taken into consideration by those who have been so busily employed in beating the water into which they plunged Lorton and Lyman to a temporary beyond the endurance of a majority of people. This new phase of the inquiry, if pushed to a successful conclusion among the lines laid down by those who are instrumental in its development, will throw additional light on a plan that was evolved for the purpose of securing money without giving value received, and at the same time the persons so vitally interested will learn enough "law" to last them a lifetime. Exposures are easily talked about, but the public officials who have been employed on the various phases of the case, are well aware that they "talk" don't produce the culprits in tangible form. There are several phases of the question that are being discussed with a great deal of speculation. One is that the U. S. authorities may get after some of the parties for a fraudulent use of the mails in connection with the case, and that one of the parties, who is a principal figure, may be given a taste of what constitutes a federal jail. The part of one who assisted in forcing a wholly innocent party to make good the amount he lost because of bad judgment and an overpowering desire to make big returns from a comparatively small investment. The full story of this new phase of the "green goods" episode may be written authoritatively in a few days, after which it is to be hoped that the word final may adorn all future references to the story.

Sheriff Lear and Deputy Sheriff Melching, who have been most vigorous in running down all clues connected with this Kohl case, just this afternoon found the grip in which the "green goods" were delivered to Kohl, and this "grip" will play an important part when the case is called for trial. (The fastening of the "grip" shows that it was at one time forced open, thus bearing out a portion of the Lyman confession which was given to the public exclusive by the Daily News of Tuesday, on the strength of which Lyman and Lorton were both placed under arrest. The contents of the "grip" were examined and it is said that much new and strong evidence has been found among the articles against some of the parties already implicated.—Wapak News.

WEATHER-FAIR.

Washington, June 11.—For Ohio: Fair tonight and Saturday.

Fleischmann, of Cincinnati, head of the movement to make 7 o'clock arrive at five o'clock is making but little headway, although he makes yest.

Respectfully dedicated to the polit-ico—paying editor of our morning electric luminary.

Newspaper life ain't all skittles and beer, for often you go down a bun-nery, and though you intend to sing a true song you discover your song-sheet discordantly wrong; when the chape you go after rise up from the dead, and you well—you simply crawl under the bed.

Leading local republicans, men true to the Aldrich faith are discussing the giving of severe discipline to Editor Campbell for his work during the street lighting controversy. The phosphorescence of the shining silver dollars caused the zodiacal editor to snuff out his moral candle; to forget that he owed a duty to the fathers and mothers and children of this city and county, and to join the wet procession. The dollar is the pignora that has destroyed what in him, by inheritance, was once white and right. Against any other influence he is impervious.
That no other "test" can reach him is unfortunate, but true.

TEST THE STREET LAMPS.

What taxpayer ever heard the Republican-Gazette ever demand a test of the street lights to find out whether they were 2,000 candle power or the less than 100 candle power they are?

For years it has permitted the city to pay for a quality of electric street lighting it did not get, because a republican council was bought body and breeches for $25,000 to enter into a lighting contract such as the lighting company operating the local plant wanted, although a bonafide offer of ten dollars less per

CATARRH MICROBES

A Head Microbe is the Best Microbe Hyomel Kills Them All.

Hyomel (pronounced High-omei) is a killer of catarrh germs, because when you breathe it in, its antiseptic and germicide properties reach every nook and crevice of the mucous membrane, from the mouth and nose deep into the lungs.

Hyomel brings the Australian forests of pine and eucalyptus to your home. It is made of the active principles extracted from these trees.
No one who lives in or near these forests suffers from catarrh. No one who breathes in Hyomel, the real forest air of Australia, will have catarrh for long after the treatment starts.

If you want to cure catarrh, croup, bronchitis, coughs, colds, asthma, hay fever or relieve consumption try Hyomel, the commonsense cure, the cure that reaches the spot.

A complete Hyomel outfit, including a hard rubber inhaler, costs only $1.00, and extra bottles of Hyomel if afterwards needed, cost but 10c.
Guaranteed to cure, or money back.

In concluding the Evans declared that the people of the North and the South should be perfectly know and more kindly consider one another. They should handle with gentleness, he said, without discussing for mutual cement, not for partisan or sectional gain. Let East and West interchange courtesies and not complaints. Let South and North cultivate fairly a more general fra-ternization by the exchange of administration instead of rearmament.

The evident quartet of sections, East, West, South and North can be made an advantage and not remain a hindrance; and the civil union by states of a homogeneous kindred citizenship will secure safety and forever the purest blood on earth, and show to all nations of this age the example of the best government in the world.

When Gen. Evans finished and Mr. Watterson arose to present Gen.
Grant, who had been directed by the federal government to receive the monument, a storm of applause broke out and continued for nearly 20 minutes. The big general in his big and snowy uniform of white stood upright and it seemed had difficulty in controlling his emotions.

Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, of the department of the interior, representing Secretary of War Dickinson, who was unable to be present, received, in behalf of the national government, the statue of General Stephen D. Lee from the United Confederate Veterans today. General Grant referred to his acquaintance with General Lee which he said continued through many years and afforded him the greatest happiness and gratification.

He reviewed the career of General Lee, who died, "leaving an untarnished record, and a most deservedly honored with admiration and respect, because of his noble life and character, of which his surviving son and friends will be ever proud, and which, all who follow him, may emulate."

Continuing, General Grant said: "I myself, am especially grateful, to have this opportunity of speaking in honor of General Stephen Lee's memory, as less than two years ago, he, my kind friend and hospitable host, took me over these very historic grounds at Vicksburg and we recalled a great deal of the incident of the fearful struggle which occurred here, in 1863, where he and I had both been wounded. General Lee serving during that struggle as a distinguished officer of the Confederate army, and I being with my father, who commanded the forces of the opposing Union army. We talked over the battles of the past with no feeling of bitterness, but only with rejoicing, that peace had been established and that harmony, patriotism and loyalty to one flag, now exist throughout our great land."

"In the shadow of this beautiful statue, built to the memory of this knighly and chivalric soldier, I am glad to recall the earnest wish cherished constantly by my own dear father, General Ulysses S. Grant, for peace and harmony among the American people. This wish was shown in the terms granted here at Vicksburg, and also April 9th, 1865, when at Appomattox, after reading that the sides-arms, horses and private property of his officers and enlisted men could be retained by them, General Robert E. Lee, said to General Grant, "These terms will have indeed, a most happy effect upon my army, and upon the whole South."

"I am glad to recall that this sentiment for harmony between the North and the South begun at Appomattox, was cherished by General Grant until the end of his life, as shown by him, during the administration of President Johnson and the reconstruction period, when General Grant stood firmly and determinedly, for the promises he had given to General Robert E. Lee and to the South, as he did also, throughout his own two administrations, as President of the United States, even up to the last hours of his existence.
This is evident in a message written by General Grant during his last illness, after the loss of his voice, to one of the physicians attending him, a short time before his death, of which message, I will read a few lines:

"My father wrote: 'I am thankful for the providential extension of my time, because it has enabled me to see for myself, the happy harmony that has so suddenly sprung up between those engaged a few short years ago, in deadly conflict. It has been an inestimable blessing to me to hear the kind expressions toward me, in person, from all parts of our country, from people of all nationalities, all religions, and from Confederate and National troops alike—they have brought joy to my heart if they have not effected a cure."

"I venture to read here today also on this touching occasion, another message General Grant wrote, on this subject, in finishing his 'Personal Memoirs' at Mount McGregor, a few days before his death. He wrote as follows:

"I feel that we are on the eve of a new era, when there is to be great harmony between the Federal and Confederate. I cannot stay to be a living witness to the correctness of this prophecy, but I feel it within me that it is to be so. The universal kind feelings expressed for me at a time, when it was supposed, that each day would prove my last, seemed to me, the beginning of the answer to — Let us have peace.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

William Fitzmaurice Victim of Accident near Peru, Indiana.

IMMEDIATELY

Relatives Have Received No Further Particulars of Condition.

On evening Thomas Fitzmaurice of 717 North Main street, word from Peru, Indiana, that William had met with an accident at Lawton, a small village on the Chicago, Cincinnati and Erie railroad. Mr. Fitzmaurice left immediately for Peru, but particulars of the accident received by relatives, nor known what condition the victim was in.

William Fitzmaurice was employed as a foreman on the Cincinnati and Dayton road for many years and left about two years ago to take a similar position with the Erie, a railway company, running from Peru, where he has been employed, and was at the time of the accident.

It was rumored that a brother of the injured man was in the city shortly after noon today enroute to his home at Ft. Wayne, Ind., and that he had the injuries sustained in the accident proved fatal, but none of the relatives in this city have been heard of his condition, and are now awaiting some word from the man.

Report of which the origin cannot be determined, was to the effect that the victim's ribs were torn and the spinal column and there was little hope for his recovery.

Many friends of the young man express the hope that his injuries are fatal and not as serious as reported.

KETCHEL

Wants Jeffries to Referee Fight.

New York, June 11.—Stanley Ketchel would like to have Jim Jeffries as referee for his coming fight with Jack Johnson for the world's championship next October at Colma, Calif.

The Michigan middleweight reached here today from Philadelphia.
Asked if, in the event he defeated Johnson, he would take on Jeffries, Willus Britt, manager for Ketchel, said:

"I don't believe Jeffries would wish to fight any white man who has the championship belt, but should he so desire why for sure Ketchel will take him on."

DEFENSE WILL TRY

To Place the Shooting of Callahan Upon His Son Wilson.

WOUNDED MAN
HAS SOME CHANCE.

Smith Has His Alibi Established and May Not be Called.

Jackson, Ky., June 11.—The Brehit county sheriffs are very busily engaged in preparation for the investigation by the special grand jury of the ambush and shooting of former Sheriff Ed Callahan. Almost every section of the county is being visited in quest of jurors and witnesses.
The subpoenas for the witnesses were placed in the hands of Steve Turner, a deputy sheriff of Long's Creek.

The Smiths and Levi Johnson, in their defense, will try to place the crime on Wilson Callahan, the son of Ed Callahan. Wilson obtained some notoriety a little over a year ago by shooting and killing his uncle, John Spicer, while the latter was cutting his father with a knife, thus saving the elder Callahan's life. The defense will also try to prove an alibi.
As for Govan Smith, he has his alibi already so well established that he may not be indicted, having a witness by the name of Helton, who is ready to testify that he passed by Govan Smith's house a few minutes before he heard the shooting and Govan was there feeding his hogs.

The latest report from the bedside of Callahan is that he is still alive and has some chance for recovery.

SPANISH LINE
STEAMER ASHORE.

New York, June 11.—The Royal Spanish line steamship Antonio Lopez which went ashore near Fire Island Wednesday night and from which 526 passengers were rescued yesterday early today was hoisted over the outer bar on which she had first grounded and now lies broadside to the beach in a bad position on the inner slope of the bar. The plates amidship were strained a little but did not take in much water. A heavy swell was running.

The wrecking tug J. J. Merrett remained alongside all night with two lines to the steamer.

With daylight and a partial lifting of the fog the Drew and the relief tugs which were standing by with the Merrett prepared to renew their efforts to relieve the Lopez at high tide.

THE MARKETS.

New York, June 11.—The stock market opened strong on a large volume of business and with striking gains in many of the most prominent stocks. Colorado and Southern dropped 2 points. There were some rises in other prominent stocks but no large gains.

The market closed very irregular. Southern Pacific rose 2 1/2 over last night, but did not hold. The swing of the price movement in unusually active stocks was very narrow. Northwestern rose 1 1/2. Amor-lean Cotton Oil 2 1/2. Vulcan Detention 3 1/2. North American 2. Westinghouse Electric 1 1/2 and American Lined 1. Erie second preferred declined 1 1/2. Chesapeake & Ohio and United States Rubber second preferred 1.

Harvest Lowered Markets.

Chicago, June 11.—The near approach of harvest moved the bears in the wheat pit to a fresh raid on the July delivery at the opening of the market today which resulted in wide fluctuations in the price. Initial quotations in July were at $1.16 1/2 to $1.17 1/2. The market was also adversely affected by bearish foreign advices which were reflected in a decline of 1/2 pence to 3/4 pence at Liverpool.

Shorts took advantage of the break in July and covered freely resulting in a considerable rally.

The corn market was quite weak at the start owing to profit taking in the July delivery. Receipts were a trifle larger than expected and weather conditions were greatly improved. The opening on July was unchanged to 1/4 lower at 72 1/2 to 73. Later the price declined to 72 1/2 to 73.

Oats were weak on selling by cash interests. July sold off to 53. Provisions were easy at the start because of a 5 to 10 decline in live hogs but the market rallied a trifle. Prices at the opening were 2 1/2 to 5 lower.

LINE OF MARCH FIXED

For Parade of Volunteer Firemen's Convention Next Wednesday.

CITIZENS ARE ASKED TO HELP

By Decorating Their Homes and Beautifying Their Grounds.

Work is going forward energetically in regard to the final arrangements for the Firemen's convention to be held here next Wednesday, June 16th. This promises to be a great event for the city and the entertainment committee of the Progressive Association, which has the greater bulk of the work to do, as the Volunteer Firemen have no organization here, is planning to give the visitors the best time they ever had.

At a meeting held this morning the following line of march for the great parade was decided upon, the march to be taken up at one-thirty p. m.

Parade will form at the Market House at one p. m. Major F. M. Bell in charge of the right resting on Main street. Parade will move south on Main street to Circular, west on Circular to West, south on West to Kibby, east on Kibby to Elizabeth, south on Elizabeth to Vine, east on Vine to Main, north on Main to North, west on North to Market, east on Market through Public Square to Central avenue and there disband.

Every citizen along this line of march can materially assist in the work if they will see that their grounds are nicely cared for, and that all trash and unsightly rubbish is removed from the street. They are also asked to decorate with flags and bunting, so that the visitors may have a pleasing impression of every street on which they pass. The line of march is a long one, and includes portions of the city not usually seen in a parade. From the preparations this will very likely be the best parade ever seen in this city. Advance information from the various organizations indicate that there will be a larger attendance than ever before. One hundred and two companies have sent word that they will be present to fall in line. There will be not less than fifty brass bands and more than 3,000 uniformed firemen will be in the pageant.

Everybody is asked to do their part in making the day a grand success in every particular. In the evening at seven o'clock every brass band here will give a special parade of their own, all marching in line and playing the same air.

The public square has been beautified, if private residence owners will only follow the example of the municipal authorities Lima can be made one of the prettiest places in the state.

AMBULANCE CALLS.

Grant Wolf, an employee of the Wapakoneta fire department, was arrested Thursday morning by Deputy Sheriff Baxter and brought before Judge Klinger for contempt of court. At the time his wife secured a divorce several weeks ago, he was ordered to pay $4 a month to defray the costs of the case and attorneys fees granted the wife by the court. ORPHIUM THEATRE.

One of the big comedy hits of the season is the Redpath Napanese at the Orphium this week. With Jules Held as the German professor, and Fritz Ryan Houston as Willie the stuttering boy, surrounded by four other mischievous boys and girls who sing well, certainly keep a merry tip for forty minutes, and still after repeated encores the audience clamor for more. It is without any doubt the most popular act the Orphium has had, for the simple reason "It appeals to every man, woman and child." To the older ones it brings back the scenes and to our memories, the happy school days, and many familiar pranks that we played, as well as the childhood games, this is all it is all so naturally portrayed that one almost forgets himself and imagines himself back to the childhood days. It is a great act for the children, for it is nature to them and an act that they can all understand, and will be most pleasing and entertaining to them. Don't miss it yourself and be sure to send the children on Saturday.
